

satellite radio is a valuable service available to the public. we need to encourage and foster alternative information sources, rather than stifle its development. our government needs to serve our need for more freedom and more choices. mark s zurawel